resumed again until they start back to London.

A London dispatch says Miss Leneve's relatives have retained counsel here, but on this point the police have received no official information. Talks with the crew and stewards of the Montrose threw interesting sidelights on the actions of the pair on the voyage from Antwerp. Dominick Keen, the steward who looked after their state room, had the best opportunity for observing their actions. If said:

Penetrated Dissulse. Penetrated Disguise.

"I was one of the first to discover, by her neat methods in her room, her way of walking and her effeminate figure, that "John Robinson, Jr.," was a woman. Then we discovered that the labels had been taken from all their clothes, that the lining had been torg from the younger Robinson's hat, and soon Captain Kendali was convinced that he had the much-sought fugitives aboard. The pair spent most of their time in their cabin and shunned the other passengers so far as possible.

Alfred Smith, the dining room stew-Alfred Smith, the dining room steward, told how Crippen had manocuvred to keep Miss Leneve seated by him at the table. He said that Crippen saked for two seats at the captain's table side by side and next to the wall, co that no one could sit by Miss Leneve other than himself. "My boy is a little deaf," he told the steward, and after some little argument succeeded in getting the desired seats. In this way he prevented any passengers enin getting the desired seats. In this way he prevented any passengers engaging the girl in conversation at the table and betraying her sex by her voice. One of the Iew English-speaking passengers on board, Richard Homer, got nearer Crippen than any one else. Homer says that Crippen and Miss Leneve used to drink on an average of three bottles of beer a day, and he had thought it strange that a father should allow a young son to touch intoxicants.

The children of blood tainted parentage inherit a polluted circulation to durden their existence with disease and suffering. Swollen glands about the neck, weak eyes, running sores and abscesses, pale, waxy complexions, and frail, poorly developed systems are the most usual ways in which the disease is manifested. In some cases the blood is so filled with the scrotulous germs that from birth, life is made miserable with suffering, while in other cases it is held in check during young, vigorous life, but when the system begins to weaken, especially after a spell of sickness, the ravages of the disease will commence. S. S. S. is Nature's perfect cure for Scrotula, made entirely of healthful roots, herbs and barks, a safe medicine for young or old. S. S. S. goes into the circulation and drives out all scrotulous matter, and entirely removes the cause. It supplies the blood with the healthful properties it is in need of and in this way builds up weak, frail, disease-burdened persons and makes them strong, robust and healthy. S. S. cures Scrotula, because it is the most perfect of all blood purifiers. Book on the Blood and any medical advice free to all who write.

STRIKERS CHANGE MIND

Constabulary. Greensburg, Pa., August 1.—The proposed demonstration here to-day of ,000 of the 15,000 striking miners in coal districts of this section developed coal districts of this section developed into a gathering of but fifty men. The presence of 430 deputy sheriffs and ninety members of the State constabulary is said to have led the strikers to change their minds and call off the monster mass meeting. The fifty who came were dust-covered stragglers who had not heard of the postponement. There was one outbreak. An alleged strike-breaker, John Olusko, was attacked by strikers on the street here to-day and beaten up so badly that he had to be taken to the hospital.

The strike has been on since March, and many of the families are destitute. The places of the strikers are fast being filled, according to the operators.

Situation is Acute.

Irwin, Pa., August 1.—Eight members of Troop A, State police, are today stationed at Irwin, pairolling streets, so acute has become the situation on account of the miners' strike. For the last few days the strikers and sympathizers practically controlled the situation, local officials being unable to quell the disorder. Streets leading from the railway station were filled with strikers, and several small riots took place. Strike-breakers coming in were roughly handled and their baggage confiscated. The latter was piled up in a conspicuous place, and a bit card over the pile was labeled. "Remains of Scabs." James Rennick, a deputy, was set upon, it is alleged, his weapon taken from him, and he was thrown into Brush Creek. He was then taken to the railroad and told never to return.

the mounty is at an end. It is my further belief that no more than fifteen white men participated in the riot. Of course, there were probably 100 or 200 armed men in the community, but they were armed merely for the purpose of protecting their homes and quelling such uprisings as might occur. WILL SUPPORT BONILLA

Americans to Take Lead in Revolution in Spanish Honduras.

New Orleans, La., August 1.—That the revolution which former President the revolution which former President Manual Bonilla is promoting in Spanish Honduras will be fought largely under the leadership of Americans, is the belief of passengers arriving here to-day on the steamer Bluefields, from Ceiba. General Gabe Conrad, the young American who was badly wounded while fighting for Estrada in Nicaragua, has joined Bonilla's forces. Declaring that Estrada no longer needed him. Conrad, with a small force of American sharp-shooters, left Nicaragua for Honduras a week ago, landed near Ceiba, and made his way into the interior. He will have command of Bonilla's machine guns. General Lee Christmas, another American, joined Bonilla before Conrad.

Passengers do not share in the belief that the uprisings which were recently suppressed at Puerta Cortez and Ceiba were premature. They say that Bonilla brought them about in order to get possession of the arms, which are kept locked up in arsenals during peace as a precaution against their being seized by would-be revolutionists. Bonilla, they say, believes that he has the sympathy of a large majority of the population, and that the government troops will desert to enlist in his cause.

FIRE RECORD IN CHICAGO

July Had More Alarms Than Any Pre-vious Month.

Chicago III, August 1.—Chicago set a new record for fires during July with a total of 1.512 alarms struck in during the thirty-one days. This breaks all records in the Fire Department since its organization. Hot winds and the long spell of warm weather are believed by firemen to be partly responsible for the large number of fires. While the number of fires was great, the total loss was comparatively small. The largest previous record in the history of the department was 1.-218 alarms turned in during a month of the railroad strike in 1893.
